DEMAND #2

Acknowledge all types of violence against women, denounce them and contribute to their elimination, notably by organizing a national awareness-raising campaign to address this issue in partnership with the autonomous community action organizations that offer specific services to women, while making sure that their mission funding is enhanced.

DEMAND #3

In the perspective of an ecological transition that supports social justice values, we ask that the government put together measures that enable all citizens to have access to drinkable water and quality food at a reasonable and accessible price by adopting proximity agriculture that respects agroecology and circular economy principles.

DEMAND #4

Because migrant, immigrant and racialized women are victims of systemic discrimination, sexism and racism, we demand that the government put in place inclusive measures that take into consideration the complexity of these women's integration journey and guarantees them access to their rights and services no matter their migratory status. We demand that the government acknowledge and valorize the expertise of the groups representing these women's interests.

DEMAND #5

Violence and sexual aggression against indigenous women: IT'S ENOUGH!

DEMAND #5 (SUITE)

Despite the fact that there has been two Commissions of Inquiry and both the Canadian and Quebec governments are promising change, violence and sexual aggressions toward First Nations women and girls are sadly still a reality.

For this reason, Femmes autochtones du Québec (FAQ), with the members of the Quebec Coordination of the Women's March (CQMMF), are getting together.

DEMAND #5 (SUITE)

WE DEMAND :

- Justice and reparation for all indigenous women and girls, and for their rights to be respected ;
- That police forces stop their tactics of racial profiling and arrests, because indigenous women are 11 times more likely to be arrested than white women;
- Reparation for the forced sterilization of indigenous women;
- That specific measures be established to ensure these women and girls are safe and their well being is no longer compromised.

DEMAND #5 (SUITE)

WE RECOMMEND :

- That human and financial resources be allocated to organizations and communities that are fighting to ensure security in their living areas;
- That training and mentoring be given to police forces across the country regarding the respect of indigenous women's rights;
- That reparation mechanisms be established in collaboration with groups representing women and indigenous communities;
- A campaign addressed to the Quebec population to deconstruct preconceived ideas and to fight against racism against indigenous people.

INVITATION :

We hope to see you at the Plage des Cantons de Magog! Bus transportation is offered free of charge for citizens. Check out our Facebook event for all the details!
